Inspiration Corner

The Crown: Netflix Series

'The Crown' is a Netflix original series following Queen Elizabeth II's reign and events during the 20th century. The show has won several awards including an Emmy Award for Outstanding Production Design. The show features fantastic period sets and costumes, including several ornate fireplaces, transporting the viewer to a glamorous, royal lifestyle. Above is an image featuring a wide marble surround with carefully carved detailing.

The Intern: Film

Nancy Meyer's films are renowned for chic set designs sparking inspiration for Pinterest boards and renovation projects. 'The Intern' is set in New York City featuring the trendy home of an e-commerce entrepreneur. Kristi Zea, Oscar-nominated production designer, created the beautiful sets. This exquisite marble fireplace show above is displayed in the heart home of Jules Ostin (Anne Hathaway). The effortlessly cool New York style is embodied in this fireplace.

White House Oval Office

The White House is where the President and the First Family of the United States live and work. The White House has 35 fireplaces and it takes a chimney sweep three days to clean the entire property. The fireplace in the Oval Office mixes the textures of two different types of marble, characterised by elegant carvings along the legs and mantel. The width of the fireplace creates a powerful, bold silhouette. The White House has influenced home interior enthusiasts for decades.
